

Left: Ice crystals grown and imaged using scanning electron microscopy
Right: Three-dimensional surfaces constructed from these images